Q1 · GENERAL QUESTION

Housework

집안일 루틴: 맡은 일, 시간, 평일·주말 차이, 이유

Tell me about the housework you usually do at home. What chores are you responsible for, and when do you usually do them?

IL

I usually do the dishes and take out the trash. I also clean the living room. I normally do these chores after dinner or on weekends.

IM

At home, I usually do the dishes, take out the trash, and clean the living room. On weekdays, I do small chores after dinner. On weekends, I spend more time vacuuming and organizing things around the house.

IH

I share housework with my family, and I usually take care of the dishes, trash, and living room. During the week, I try to finish small chores right after dinner so they do not pile up. On weekends, I vacuum, wipe the floor, and organize things that have been left around. I prefer doing a little at a time because it keeps the house from becoming messy.

AL

Housework at my home is divided fairly naturally, and I usually handle the dishes, trash, and most of the living-room cleaning. On weekdays, I try to deal with small chores right after dinner rather than putting them off. Then, on weekends, I do a more thorough cleaning, such as vacuuming, wiping the floor, and organizing anything that has accumulated during the week. I have found that doing a little every day is much easier than spending several hours cleaning everything at once.

CHECK · take care of / pile up / rather than putting it off

Q2 · GENERAL QUESTION

Housework

과거 경험: 갑작스러운 상황, 역할 분담, 행동, 결과

Tell me about a memorable time when you had to do a lot of housework. What happened, and how did you handle it?

IL

One day, guests were coming to my home. The house was messy, so my family cleaned together. We finished before the guests arrived.

IM

A few months ago, some relatives were coming to visit, but our house was messy. My family and I cleaned the living room, kitchen, and bathroom together. We divided the work and finished everything before they arrived.

IH

A few months ago, my relatives suddenly decided to visit us on a Saturday afternoon. The problem was that our house was much messier than usual. My family quickly divided the chores: I vacuumed and cleaned the living room, my wife handled the kitchen, and my daughter organized her things. We worked together for about an hour and managed to finish just before the guests arrived.

AL

One housework experience I remember clearly happened when some relatives called and said they were coming over with very little notice. Our home was not ready for visitors at all, so instead of trying to clean everything by myself, I divided the work among my family. I vacuumed and cleaned the living room, my wife focused on the kitchen, and my daughter put away the things that were scattered around. We finished in just over an hour. It was stressful at first, but the experience reminded me how much faster housework can be when everyone has a clear job.

CHECK · with very little notice / divide the work / manage to finish

Q3 · GENERAL QUESTION

Housework

변화 비교: 예전 방식, 현재 분담, 영향, 결과

How has the way your family does housework changed over the years? Compare the past and the present.

IL

In the past, one person did most of the housework. Now my family shares the chores. It is easier and faster.

IM

In the past, my wife did more of the housework. These days, we try to share the chores more evenly. I do the dishes and cleaning, and my daughter helps organize her room. It makes things easier for everyone.

IH

The way my family handles housework has changed quite a bit. In the past, chores were not divided very clearly, so one person often ended up doing more. These days, we share responsibilities more intentionally. I usually handle the dishes and living room, while other family members take care of their own areas. As a result, the work feels more balanced and usually gets done faster.

AL

Housework in my family has become much more organized over the years. In the past, we did not really discuss who was responsible for what, so chores sometimes piled up or ended up falling on one person. Now we divide responsibilities more clearly and try to take care of small tasks before they become bigger jobs. We also expect everyone to manage their own space. The biggest change is not just that the work is shared more evenly, but that housework has become part of our normal routine instead of something we deal with only when the house gets messy.

CHECK · share responsibilities / more evenly / part of our normal routine

ROLE-PLAY · PHONE TASK

Housework

도움 요청: 긴급 상황, 역할 지정, 질문 세 개 이상, 최종 계획

Guests are coming to your home soon, but the house is messy. Call a family member, explain the situation, and ask three or four questions about sharing the housework.

IL

Hi. Guests are coming soon, and the house is messy. Can you help me clean? Can you do the kitchen? Can you take out the trash? What time can you start?

IM

Hi, some guests are coming this afternoon, so we need to clean the house quickly. Can you help me? Could you clean the kitchen while I do the living room? Can you also take out the trash? What time can you start? I think we can finish in about an hour.

IH

Hi, I just found out that some relatives are coming over this afternoon, and the house is not ready. Could you help me clean for about an hour? Would you mind taking care of the kitchen while I vacuum the living room? Could you also take out the trash when you are done? And what time can you start? If we divide the work, I think we can finish before they arrive.

AL

Hi, I just got a call from my relatives, and they are coming over much sooner than I expected. The house is still pretty messy, so I really need your help. Could you take care of the kitchen while I vacuum and clean the living room? After that, would you mind taking out the trash and checking the bathroom? What time can you start, and is there anything else you think we should clean first? If we split the work now, we should be able to finish before they arrive. Thanks, I really appreciate it.

CHECK · explain why the cleaning is urgent / assign at least one chore / ask three or more questions / confirm a plan to finish before the guests arrive
